

Tutor-Generated Feedback

Overview:

- Educate tutors on how providing authentic feedback to a learner can increase the chances of a rebooking (and how it might positively impact their profile quality/discoverability)
 - Example of benefits
 - Learner feels engaged = rebook
 - Tutor profile shows a “provides feedback” badge (differentiator)
 - Cambly prioritizes suggesting tutors that provide feedback
- Give general kudos: (Open-ended feedback only)
 - For example:
 - Great job in today’s lesson!
 - I really enjoyed speaking with you about your travel plans/your career aspirations/current events in your country.

- What specifically did they do well?
 - A selection of pills based on feedback areas, just like Tonio has proposed.
 - When the tutor clicks a pill, we show example(s) of what strength in that specific area looks like so the tutor has some guidance
 - E.g.
 - The open-ended textbox is also shown so tutors can type in their feedback
- What could they work to improve?
 - Same selection of pills
 - When the tutor clicks a pill, we show example(s) of what weaknesses in that specific area look like so the tutor has some guidance
 - The open-ended textbox is also shown so tutors can type in their feedback

modal

Help your learner grow with feedback ×

We heard tutors have been giving feedback and learners are loving it. To make it easier to send and quicker for learners to find, we created this space.

What did your learner do well?

Vocabulary Grammar

Fluency Coherence

Pronunciation Other

Tell them more (Optional)

What could they work to improve?

Vocabulary Grammar

Fluency Coherence

Pronunciation Other

Auto-saved Close Send

- Next steps:
 - Based on the pills they selected in the sections above, give an example of either:
 - Taking a strength to the next level (in an actionable way)
 - Building a weak area (in an actionable way)

Details on examples for each feedback section and area:

- What did they do well? Sample examples/prompting questions based on which linguistic area they indicate here to focus their positive feedback
 - Examples if the tutor selects VOCAB
 - The learner used really descriptive language when describing their favorite movie
 - The learner nailed a vocab fill-in-the-blank exercise
 - The learner correctly used scientific vocab when discussing an article you read together
 - Examples if the tutor selects GRAMMAR
 - The learner did a great job with a grammar activity in a slide
 - The learner used the past tense a lot and didn't make any mistakes
 - The learner talked about a topic without making any grammar mistakes
 - The learner did a task (asked questions, role played in a meeting) and didn't make any grammar mistakes
 -?
 - Examples if the tutor selects FLUENCY
 - The learner spoke with few pauses when they talked about a certain topic
 - The learner's English really flowed smoothly when they were answering a discussion question about their dream vacation
 - Examples if the tutor selects COHERENCE
 - The learner told an engaging story where the chronological events of the story were connected smoothly
 - The learner was able to give a well-put-together explanation of what they do at their job
 - They gave their opinion and justified their opinion in a compelling way
 - Examples if the tutor selects PRONUNCIATION
 - You understood the learner's pronunciation very well
 - The learner read a tough article and never got tongue tied!
 - The learner learned some new words and pronounced them very well
- What could use improvement? Sample examples/prompting questions based on which linguistic area they indicate here to focus their constructive feedback
 - Examples if the tutor selects VOCAB
 - What topic were you discussing when the translate tool was needed frequently?
 - Was there a time you misunderstood them because they used the wrong word?
 - Did the learner not understand certain types of words (e.g. business terms or scientific words) in an article you were reading together?
 - Examples if the tutor selects GRAMMAR
 - Did you notice a consistent grammar mistake?

- Did you notice a time when the learner tried to say something, but couldn't figure out how to? Perhaps they had to use the translate tool for a whole sentence instead of a word?
 - Examples if the tutor selects FLUENCY
 - Did the learner have trouble answering with longer stretches of speech / only answered with very short replies
 - Did the learner have to pause or backtrack a lot when discussing a particular topic, like talking about a new work project or a current event?
 - Examples if the tutor selects COHERENCE
 - Did the learner have trouble connecting their ideas when telling a story?
 - Did the learner have trouble linking ideas when providing a description or explanation?
 - PRONUNCIATION
 - Did the learner struggle with particular sounds (like "r" or "th")?
 - Did the learner have a hard time pronouncing certain types of words (e.g., long words, scientific words, words that start with "p")?
- Next steps: (generate an example based on the pill they clicked in the "needs improvement" section; if they didn't click or enter anything in the "needs improvement" section, then [_____])
- VOCAB
 - (specific, based on what-they-did-well section): You did such a great job with using vocabulary related to your daily work; next time, let's make sure you have all the vocab you need to talk about customers' needs.
 - (general, based on what-they-did-well section): Think about how the student can take what they did well on today to the next level.
 - (specific, based on need-to-work-on section): If the student had trouble asking questions, you could challenge them to ask you ten questions next time.
 - (general, based on need-to-work-on section): Think about what you wrote in the "needs work" section. How can the student improve at that specific thing?
- GRAMMAR
- FLUENCY
- COHERENCE
- PRONUNCIATION

Connecting ideas seems to be a challenge. Let's share more stories from your past so it gets easier to have conversations.

Giving reasons for your opinions seems to be a challenge. Let's work on that so your class discussions at university get easier.